Introduction

This is an endeavour to spread the greatness of Sri Madhwacharya and his 33 disciple saints who came in his lineage. The Haridasas were saints, some of whom were wandering bards, and considered themselves as slaves of their supreme Lord Hari. The unique ability of these saints was to combine bhakti (devotion), jnana (knowledge), and Sangita (music) into a living spiritual practice in simple and lucid Kannada to the masses which became a strong spiritual force in the resurgence of a strong Hindu sentiment in Southern India. In doing so, the common people were also educated in the importance of consciousness, devotion and ethics of Hindu religion.

The Haridasa Literature is a medium for mass education of the common man about values, virtues, morals and day to day happenings, and instigating thoughts of an honest and devoted life through songs, thus contributing enormously to social upliftment. It brought the ancient scriptures to the common man's reach in understandable language.

This book is a honest attempt to portray the life, works and miracles of 33 saints in Sri Madhwacharya lineage. All the saints story are written in poetry form. The order of appearance in the book is as per the ascending order of their birth dates. Most of the information in these poems are sourced from the Internet and other books which is mentioned in the reference section. Some of the dates may not be verified and are shown to be indicative or assumed dates.

Sri Madhwacharya (1238-1317)

Sri Madhvacharya was born in Pajaka , near Udupi in 12th century

It was Vijay Dashmi day and his childhood name was Vasudeva

He founded the Dvaita philosophy and was incarnation of Lord Vayu

He preached that the concept of God and humans are different

Reality is twofold: Independent and Dependent things. The Lord Vishnu is the only independent thing. Rest are dependent

He enumerated 5 fold differences between God, Soul and material things

He asserted that Lord Vishnu is ultimate god and can be reached by devotion

He explained that faith leads to grace of God and Grace leads to liberation of soul

He installed the idol of Lord Krishna in Udupi

He wrote 37 works which are books of excellence

His miracles are many and unique

He is one of the three influential Vedanta philosophers of India

He is considered as third incarnation of Lord Vayu – Wind god

First as Hanuman, Second as Bhima and third as Madhva the ultimate teacher

Madhwacharya teachings continue to resonate across centuries

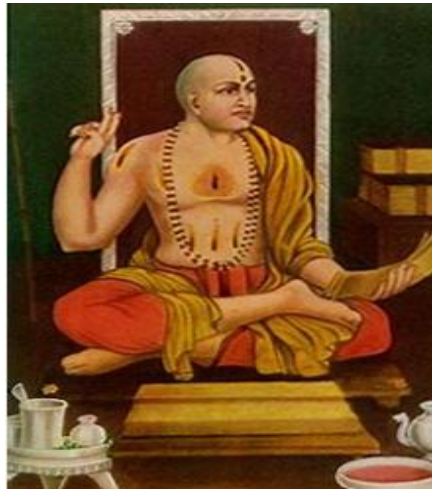

His legacy lives to who follow the path of truth, devotion, and righteousness.

Madhvacharya is also known as Ananda tirtha or Purnaprajna.

May the ultimate teacher be worshipped with all respects

May his blessings be with us at all times

He left for Badri on his ultimate journey in Magha Month , Shula paksha, Navami.

Sri Narahari Tirtha (1243 – 1333)

In the lineage of Madhva's light,
A saint arose, serene and bright,
Sri Narahari Tirtha, steadfast and true,
A beacon of dharma, wisdom's hue.

Guardian of kings, with counsel wise,
He ruled with justice, clear as skies,
A minister, yet a monk at heart,
From worldly duties he did not depart.

He spread the truth of dual creed,
Where soul and God in love proceed,
With songs of bhakti, pure and deep,
He sowed devotion hearts still keep.

Protector of temples, arts, and lore,
He opened the dharma's door far and wide
A scholar, poet, guide, and sage,
His name resounds from age to age.

From Kalinga's land to holy streams,
He nurtured faith, fulfilled the dreams,
Of seekers yearning for the way,
He lit their path with truth's bright ray.

O Narahari, noble guide,
In you both strength and grace reside,
Your legacy, a shining flame,
Eternal glory to your name.

He wrote fifteen books, but only two books exist today
Gita Bhashya and Bhavaprakasika are the 2 works
A few songs of his survive under the pen name Raghu
Kulatilaka

A three-foot statue of Narahari Tirtha Depicting him with script on palm leaves and flanked by devotees
Was discovered at Simhachalam Temple in Visakhapatnam, AP

His Aradhana falls on Pushya Bahula Saptami.
The saint, upon his passing away, was consecrated Near the rock adjacent to Chakra tirtha at Hampi

Sri Trivikrama Panditacharya (1258 -1320)

Sri Trivikrama Panditacharya was one of the disciples of Sri Madhvacharya

He was scholar of Dvaita philosophy

He composed the Vayu Stuti, - famous stotra in Madhwa tradition

Sri Trivikrama was the teacher of the King of Kasaragod called Jayasimha.

Once when Sri Madhvacharya visited Kasaragod

He challenged Sri Madhva to a debate on Advaita tradition

The debate lasted for 7–8 days and in the end

He accepted Sri Madhva's philosophy and became his disciple

He also composed a book called Tatva pradeepika

It is a commentary of Sri Madhvacharya Brahma Sutra Bhashya

He wrote a poem Usaha Rana of 9 cantos before he converted to Madhwa tradition

His Brindavana is in Kavu Mutt near Kudla in Kerala

Sri Padmanabha Tirtha (1258 – 1324)

He was the first disciple of Madhwacharya
 And he was Padmanabha Tirtha
 He not only listened directly to discourses of Lord Madhwa
 But also, he took over the priesthood from him
 And he adored the throne of Madhwa Philosophy
 Before he became saint, he was called Shobana Bhatta
 He was expert in Vedas and logic, he was good orator too.

With devotion he proclaimed that Sr Madhwa's writings
 Are equal to Kalpa Vriksha- The divine tree
 He was the first to write commentary on the Sri Madhwa's writings
 Hence, he was called the First Commentator
 He wrote commentaries on several books of Sri Madhwa

Sri Jayatirtha has mentioned Sri Padmanabha Tirtha in his commentary
 In Sudha Granta written by him, he mentioned that The blessing of Sri Padmanabha Tirtha be on us always In Nyaya Deepika, he mentioned that the writings of Sri Padmanabha Tirtha
 Are like the first rays of sun and may it lead us to the path of ultimate knowledge
 Without his blessings, we cannot explore the truths of Madhwa Philosophy
 This is his unequivocal submission to all

Sri Narahari Tirtha was second direct disciple of Sri Madhwacharya
 And he took over the sainthood from Sri Padmanabha
 Tirtha

And he has proclaimed him as the Best of teachers Hence in his writings Narahari Tirtha as a tribute, he has mentioned
May Padmanabha Tirtha bless us and purify our souls

Sri Narayana Pandita Acharya in his book Sumadhwa
Vijaya
And in his other books, he has praised Sri Padmanabha
Tirtha
And in his other book Mithya Tanu Mana Kandana
He has mentioned that his works is following in the footsteps
Of the commentary written by Sri Padmanabha Tirtha
This is his unequivocal respect shown to the great saint

Sri Madhava Tirtha (1259 -1350)

Sri Madhava Tirtha was ordained the 4th saint after Acharya Madhva.

His Purva ashrama Nama was Vishnu Sastri.

He had the good fortune of learning directly with Sri Madhwacharya'

He composed a work, explaining the meaning of three Vedas

It was based on Madhva's interpretation for the first 40 verses of Rig Veda.

He is also accredited with a commentary on Parashara Smriti.

He debated with Jain scholars during his tenure

He defended the principles of Sanatana Dharma

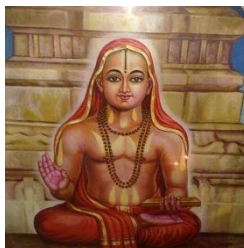

He handed over the reins to Sri Akshobhya Tirtha

He also anointed Sri Madhu Hari Tirtha

The new lineage started, went on to become Sri Madhava Tirtha Mutt

It is currently headquartered at Tambi Halli, Kolar District.

His Vrindavana is at Mannur (Kalburgi District) on the banks of river Bhima

Sri Akshobhya Tirtha (1282- 1365)

Born as Govinda Bhatta

He received sannyasa from Padmanabha Tirtha

He later succeeded Madhava Tirtha as the pontiff

Sri Akshobhya Tirtha installed the idol of Sri Narasimha in Mulbagal.

His main Mutt lineage continued as Kudli Mutt , Shivamogga

He was the last of Sri Madhwacharya direct disciples.

From Madhva's grace a jewel shone,
Akshobhya Tirtha, wisdom's own,
A saint of strength, serene and clear,
His voice of truth all hearts would hear.

Guardian of Vedanta's flame,
He spread Dvaita's noble name,
With reason sharp and faith profound,
He made the path of dharma sound.

In courts of kings, with fearless might,
He stood for truth, upheld the right,
Defeating rivals with gentle art,
Yet winning souls with bhakti's heart.

He nurtured disciples, pure and wise,
Sri Jayatirtha did arise,
Through Akshobhya's guiding hand,
Dvaita spread across the land.

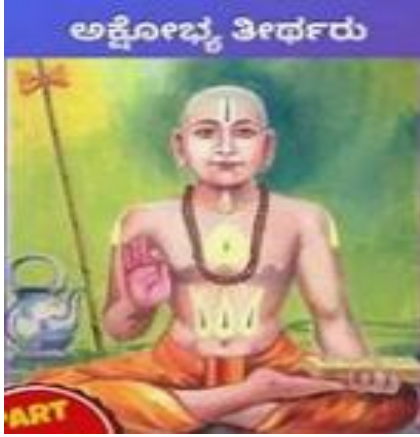

A master of scripture, lore, and song,
He showed the world where souls belong,

To serve the Lord with love and cheer,
In dual truth both firm and clear.

He wrote the Madhva Tantra Sangraha
He defeated Vidyaranya with Vedanta Dikshitar as arbitrator

The victory pillar near Mulbagal is proof of this
His Brindavana is in Malakhed, Karnataka

O Akshobhya, saint divine,
Your works eternal, ever shine,
In Madhva's line your glory stays,
A guiding light for future days.

Sri Narayana Panditacharya (1290-1317)

Jayatirtha is 6th pontiff of Madhvacharya Peeta in 1365-88
 He is venerated as one of the three great spiritual saints of Madhwa philosophy
 Sri Madhwacharya, Sri Jayatirtha & Sri Vyasa Tirtha re considered as trinity of Madhwa
 He is considered an incarnation of Lord Indra endowed with Adi Sesha(Serpent god)

He composed 21 works – commentaries on works of Sri Madhwacharya
 His dialectical skill and logical acumen earned him the title of Teekacharya
 Teekacharya means commentator par excellence
 He served as the pontiff of Shri Uttaradi Matha for 22 years.

His depth of scholarship led to popularity of Dvaita philosophy
 His lucid style and precise expositions of Sri Madhwacharya works are great
 His work conveys the philosophical depth and breadth of Tatvavada
 His work also presents view points and criticizes other philosophical theories in vogue

He entered Brindavana in Malakhed, Karnataka
 He chose Ashada Krishna Panchami to enter the Brindavana

Sripadarajaru (1412 – 1504)

A village with picturesque surroundings
A place of great serenity
Brahmins led a simple life
A pious couple gave birth a baby boy

The boy grew up in the village
He used to grace the cattle daily
He was sharp and brilliant
The village appreciated the little boy

One evening on his return from cattle grazing
He saw a saint passing by the village
He prostrated to the saint and stood
The saint was gazing the young boy

The saint enquired the distance to the village
The boy answered in crisp sentence
“See me and my herds, gaze at sky and realize distance”
The boy impressed the saint

The saint asked boy to escort him to show the way
He refused the offer because his brother was already with the saint
The saint was wonderstruck at his brilliance; blessed him
The boy went back home with his cattle

The saint proceeded to meet another great saint in Abbur
The saint explained about the emergence of new kingdom
They spoke about the peace and future of the people
The boy was part of the conversation

The next day the boy was called to meet the 2 saints
The saint in Abbur told parents to send him with the saint
It was discussion bringing grief to the parents
The boy was full responsibility of the saint

The boy's intellect began to bloom under the saint
The boy became a treasure trove of spirituality
He acquired immense knowledge with other teachers too
The boy impressed all his teachers with his intelligence

His teacher and saint retired after some time
The boy became the pontiff of the Mutt
He came to MULBAGAL city in Karnataka
The boy was influenced by the famous rulers of Vijayanagar

The king of Vijayanagar was pious ruler
Once he committed great sin and came to this great man
He surrendered at his feet and asked for relief
The great man was committed to help king

The great man performed many sacrifices and removed sins of king
The king was overcome with relief and gratitude
The king asked him to be his mentor and worshipped him with gold coins
The great man entrusted the king and disciple to help him

The great man during his lifetime wrote commentaries
 The great man was brilliant scholar and great author
 The great man was THE GREAT SRIPADARAJA
 His teacher was SWARNAVARNA TEERTHA

Sripadarajaru entered the brindavan alive at Sri Narasimha Thirtha near Mulbagal.

His Aradhane falls on Jyeshta Shuddha Chathurdashi

The dip in the pond in Narasimha Theertha is considered to be equivalent to a dip in Ganga.

His popular composition “Madhva nama” is considered to be auspicious, which narrates the three avatars of Sri Vayu deva.

(Based on story of Sripadarajaru)

Sri Brahmanya Tirtha (1416 - 1467)

Sri Brahmanya Tirtha was godly saint in Madhwa lineage

 He studied under Purushottama Tirtha in Bengal
 He was named Brahmanya Tirtha by his teacher
 He exhibited profound devotion to God

Brahmanya Tirtha performed many miracles
 On sprinkling water on cold food, it became hot
 His mantra revived prince's limbs and arms which were cut
 He revived the village from suffering a severe drought

A brahmin lady approached saint and sought permission
 To commit Sati after her husband had died
 Saint blessed her with "May you enjoy marital bliss"
 She was confused and said that her husband in no more

Brahmanya Tirtha gave her holy water
 She applied them on her husband's dead body
 Her husband was revived and woke up after this
 In gratitude the couple donated their first child to the saint

Boy grew up to become Vyasaraja

Vyasaraja was sent to study under Sripada raja in Mulbagal
Sri Vyasaraja became renowned for his erudition and scholarship

He was the fountainhead of learning for Madhwa philosophy in his time.

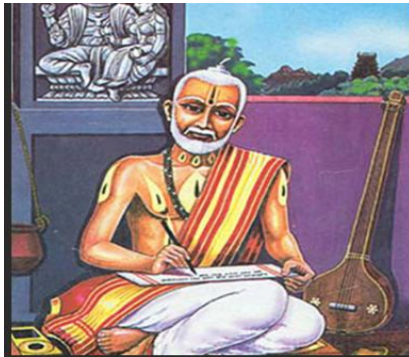

As Brahmanya Tirtha was getting old, he handed over reigns

He established two universities – one at Hampi and another at Penugonda

He was born in Bannur and his childhood name was Yatiraja

His parents were childless couple until Brahmanya Tirtha granted them boon

The condition was that 2nd child would be handed over to him which was Vyasa Tirtha

He became head of Mutt in Abburi after Brahmanya Tirtha's death in 1478

He received education in Kanchi and went to Mulbagal

He learnt 6 schools of thoughts in philosophy

He learnt Dvaita philosophy from Sripadarajaru

He undertook the worship of Lord Venkateshwara in Tirupati

He then went to Vijayanagar empire to assist the king

He acted as spiritual advisor to kings of Vijayanagar empire

Under his guidance Vijayanagar empire prospered to its heights

He is famous for winning the thirty-day debate with Basava Bhatta of Kalinga

Once he observed that the kingdom is in trouble

He asked King Krishnadevaraya to donate the kingdom to him

He kept his sacred cloth on the throne and was burnt to ashes due to a curse

After this he handed over the throne back to the king

Vyasa Tirtha is considered as one of 3 Trinities of Madhva philosophy

Madhwacharya and Jaya tirtha were the first 2 trinities

He popularized and preached Dwaita philosophy in south India

He made Dvaita movement into a fully realised school of thought

His genius lay in his clear exposition of the opposing schools of thought

His opponents admired him for his clear understanding

He was one of the foremost dialecticians in the history of Indian philosophy

He was famed for his defence of the Dvaita Vedanta against rival schools of thought.

He is credited in writing nine works, the most important of which is his Nyayamrta

During his life he established 732 temples of Hanuman in South India

He composed poems and songs based on the epics

Under his guidance, Carnatic music revolution started in southern India

Purandaradasa and Kanakadasa were his students.

He was advisor of Vijayanagar Empire

He was at the forefront of a golden age in Dvaita

He made new developments in dialectical thought

He initiated the growth of the Haridasa literature

His disciples were Purandara Dasa and Kanaka Dasa

He wrote three of his polemically themed doxographical works

Nyayamrta, Tatparya Chandrika and Tarka Tandava
(collectively called Vyasa Traya)

He documented and critiqued an encyclopaedic range of sub-philosophies.

After Sri Brahmanaya Tirtha, he became the head of the Sri Purvadi mutt in the 1476.

Sri Vyasa Tirtha had his further studies in philosophy at Kanchi

He spent 12 years with Sripadarajaru

The Saluva king Narasimha honoured Sri Vyasa Tirtha and made him Rajaguru.

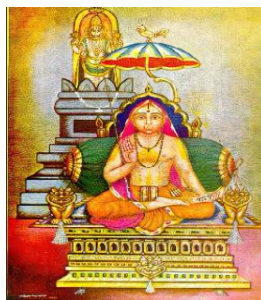

He reincarnated as Sri Raghavendra Swamy.

He is considered as an rebirth of Prahlada in the Madhva Parampara.

On 8th of March 1539 he left for the heavenly abode

His Brindavana is at Nava Brindavana on the river

Tungabhadra, Hampi.

Sri Vadiraja Tirtha (1480 - 1600)

He was a great Madhwa saint
 He had spiritual powers
 He lived for 120 years
 He is the Great Sri Vadiraja Swamy (1)

He entered Brindavana when he was alive
 He saw 5 PARYAYAS – the worship of Lord Krishna in Udupi
 He travelled all over India
 He wrote the travelogue TEERTHA PRABHANDHA (2)

A great saint Sri VAGISHA visited a village
 He met pious and childless couple (Ramabhatta & Gowri)
 He blessed them that they will have children
 He also imposed a condition (3)

The condition made couple worry
 The condition was if child is born inside house, they could keep it
 If the child was born outside the house, they have to handover child to him
 The childless couple agreed wholeheartedly (4)

One day while Gowri was pregnant
 Cows entered the paddy field and was destroying crops
 She started chasing the cows
 She developed labour pains the child was born in field (5)

They handed over the child to Sri VAGISTA TEERTHA
 He instructed them to bring the baby in golden plate
 He predicted that he would be a great saint

He sent the baby back and asked couple to bring him after few years (6)

Sri VADIRAJA studied under VAGISHA
He moved to HAMPI and studied under Sri VYASA TEERTHA
King Krishnadevaraya was impressed by his personality
He gave him the title of “Jewel of speaker” (7)

He returned to Udupi after few years
Lot of goldsmiths lived in Udupi at that time
During his routine he witnessed a miracle
He melted 5 metals to make Ganesh idol (8)

When he opened the mould, he saw Hayagriva idol
He wanted to destroyed it the next day and reuse
That night in his dream was instructed to hand over idol to Sri Vadiraja
The next day he handed over the icon to Swamy. (9)

Next day delegation of goldsmiths met Sri Vadiraja Swamy
They shared their sorrow of being outcast in society
He took pity on them and decided to uplift them
From that day this community has treated him as their GOD (10)

Sri Vadiraja went to Pandarapura and prayed to Lord Vittala
One day angry man came to him and said to him angrily
Every day I see white horse grazing my corn field
I chased it and the horse comes to the temple and disappears (11)

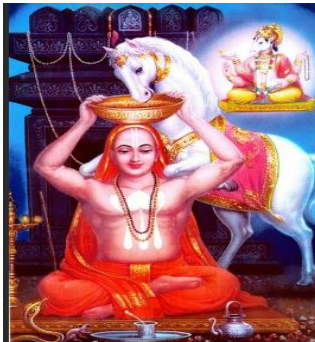

I am convinced that the horse belongs to you

You have ruined my crops and asked Swamy to compensate
Sri Vadiraja swamy said that the temple has no horse
He asked him to search the temple to find the horse (12)

The angry man could not find any horse in the temple
Sri Vadiraja swamy asked man to take him to the fields
Owner was flabbergasted to see golden corn in the fields
Vadiraja swamy said the horse was Lord HAYAVADANA (13)

The crop owner fell at the feet of Sri Vadiraja
He donated the entire field to the Swamy
Sri Vadiraja composed the DASHAVATARA STUTI at this time
The music of the song is set in horse dance tone (14)

(Based on the story of Sri Vadiraja)

Sri Purandara Dasa (1480- 1564)

Born in the land of Karnataka's grace,
A child of fortune, with a noble face,
Srinivasa Nayaka, merchant of gold,
His coffers were endless, his riches untold.

Yet wealth can weigh heavy, blind the soul's sight,
Till destiny whispers, and kindles the light.
A beggar once came, seeking alms at his door,
He turned him away, though rich to the core.

But fate returned, in disguise divine,
His wife gave her jewel, a gesture benign.
The beggar revealed — Lord Vishnu's own play,
A moment of truth, that changed life's way.

From riches he parted, renounced all pride,
In humility's river, he chose to abide.
He sang of Hari, with lute in his hand,
His voice became prayer across the land.

Ugabhogas and padas flowed like streams,
Melodies woven with bhakti's dreams.
He taught through music, devotion's art,
Awakening wisdom in every heart.

From birth to renunciation, his journey complete,
A saintly soul, at Vishnu's feet.
Purandara Dasa, father of songs,
His legacy echoes, eternal and strong.

Sri Jitamitra Tirtha (1492)

He was ordinary boy
He mocked the sacred thread
He was not aware of his future

A great saint came to his house
He saw this boy mocking the sacred thread
He was aware of his future

The saint taught him how to pray
He gave him a SALIGRAMA to pray
He made his future

The boy started praying the SALIGRAMA daily
He provoked God to eat his offerings
He was not aware of his future

The god accepted and ate his offerings daily
He was immersed in his prayers.
His future was in the making

The great saint came back after some years
He saw the boy and his prayer offerings
His future was tested

The God did not eat the offerings that day
He threatened God that he should eat it
His future was visible to the great saint

The great saint was impressed
He made the boy his successor
His future was made

The great saint was Shri VIBHUDENDRA

The boy was JITAMITRA

Future is in the hands of GOD

(Based on the story from internet sources)

Sri Kanaka Dasa (1508-1606)

In humble soil of Baada he came,
Kanaka Nayaka, a warrior's name.
Born to valour, yet destined to sing,
A soul that would rise to the Lord, the King.

Battles and riches once filled his days,
But life's deep sorrow altered his ways.
He turned to Hari, with heart contrite,
Seeking the path of eternal light.

With lute in hand, his voice took flight,
Songs of devotion, pure and bright.
"Krishna, my refuge, my guiding star,
Your grace alone redeems from afar."

At Udupi's shrine, he sought entry divine,
But barred by caste, denied the line.
Yet Krishna turned, breaking the wall,
Through the western window, he blessed Kanaka's call.

Thus stands Kanakana Kindi today,
A symbol of faith that lights the way.
No barrier of birth, no worldly chain,
Can bind the soul that sings His name.

Ugabhogas, Keerthana's, wisdom's streams,
Flowed from his pen in bhakti's dreams.
"BAGILANU TEREDU," his plea still rings,

Opening hearts to the Lord of kings.

"Kagineleya Adi Keshava" was his signature

It refers to the deity of Kagineleya.

He was one of great devotee of Lord Krishna

From birth to renunciation, his journey complete,

Kanaka Dasa rests at Krishna's feet.

His songs still echo, timeless and true,

A saintly flame that forever renews.

Sri Vijayendra Tirtha (1517 - 1614)

An old couple approached Sri Vyasarajaru
 He blessed them that they shall have two children
 They were shocked to hear to get a child at their old age
 The old couple had two children – Vittala Acharya and Guruprasad

Vittala Acharya became Vishnu Teertha
 Sri Surendra Tirtharu was a saint and was looking for his successor
 He visited Sri Vyasarajaru and there he saw Vishnu Tirtha
 He asked Vyasarajaru to gift Vishnu Tirtha to him

Vyasarajaru readily agreed
 Sri Surendra Tirtha was extremely happy to get Sri Vishnu
 Tirtha as his disciple
 He renamed Sri Vishnu Tirtha as Sri Vijayendra Tirtha
 He made him the emperor of the Vedanta empire

Vijayendra Tirtharu was well versed in 64 fields of knowledge
 He won over all his opponents in all fields
 He saved Madhva philosophy from extinction in South
 India in 16th century
 He was a master of all arts

In Kumbakonam he defeated many scholars well versed in Shiva's tenets
 He also debated with Advaita scholars and won over them
 He is credited to have authored 104 books
 He was the teacher to Raghavendra Swamy

Sri Surendra Tirtha was his teacher

He had prompted him to make SudhIndiana tirtha as his successor

Vijayendra Tirtharu taught Sri SudhIndiana tirtha and chose him as his successor

After handing over the reins, he entered Brindavana in Kumbakonam (Tamil Nadu)

In the philosophical world of India, Vijayendra occupies a unique place

There is not even a single Madhwa who is not familiar with his name

All the devotees of Raghavendra do not fail to remember Vijayendra

Even today his name in Madhwa philosophy is brilliantly blazing like an eternal flame.

(Based on the book on Sri Vijayendra Tirtha)

Sri Raghotma Tirtha (1527 - 1595)

His parents had no children for long time
 Raghuvarya Tirtha of Uttaradi mutt was touring their city
 The saint was impressed by their devotion and hospitality
 They invited him for lunch at their house

The saint agreed to come on one condition
 That their first male child should be given to the Mutt
 They agreed to this condition since they were happy to beget child
 Accordingly male child was born in 1546 and handed over to Raghuvarya Tirtha

Raghuvarya Tirtha assigned name as Ramachandra to the child
 Once when they were travelling, dacoit tried to kidnap
 child
 But the child killed the dacoit using his leg Looking at this disciples were amazed and hoped that he will be great saint in future

He was solemnised at the age of 7
 He was named Raghotma Tirtha
 At 8 years of young age, he became head of Uttaradi mutt
 He started education and other scholarly pursuits

Raghuvarya Tirtha came in the dreams of Raghotma Tirtha
 And blessed him with grace of Lord Saraswati
 He started translation of the Nyayasudha
 The Mutt started progressing well under his leadership

He installed the Brindavana of his teacher Raghuvarya
Tirtha

In Nava Brindavana, Hampi and performed pujas

He established Vedic school in Bheema Nadi

He told his disciples to spread the Madhwa philosophy to different places

Once he was passing through a forest with his disciples

A gang of highwaymen attacked Shri Raghotma Teertha

Swami went into mediation and suddenly the robbers were trapped in a conflagration

They surrendered to the saint and he saved them.

He later wrote seven books and collectively they are called “BHAVA BHODA”

He was head of the Uttaradi Mutt for 38 years

He made Vedavyasa Tirtha as his successor to the Mutt

In 1595 he entered Brindavana in Thirukovilur in Tamil
Nadu

Sri Raghavendra Swamy (1595- 1671)

Raghavendra Swamy is one of the revered saints of Dwaita tradition

His life and teachings continue to illuminate the path of devotion to us

People have immense faith in this legacy and divine experiences

Central to Raghavendra Swamy's teachings is the tenet of Dvaita Vedanta

A philosophy that stresses the eternal duality between the Supreme and soul

He taught that while the soul is distinct from God

It can establish a transformative relationship with the divine through unwavering devotion (bhakti), righteous living, and the pursuit of spiritual knowledge.

The influence of Raghavendra Swamy is immense

He has transcended the confines of historical narratives

He has become a living source of spiritual solace and guidance

His Brindavana in Mantralaya in AP is most frequently visited pilgrimage site

Many devotees testify to experiencing inner peace and healing

After a visit to Mantralaya, where the presence of Raghavendra Swamy is felt

As palpably as if he were still walking among his followers.

Three events of Lord Raghavendra is celebrated in recent times

Aradhana , Vardhanti and Pattabhisheka are these three events

His birthday or Vardhanti falls on the 7th day in Phalguna month.

This is celebrated as a special occasion with great pomp and glory

On this day, TTD Tirumala officials bring Srivari Vastra and offer to Lord Raghavendra

His Pattabhisheka or Coronation Ceremony was performed in 1621 in Phalguna month

He was ordained into oath of celibacy by his teacher Sri Sudheendra Teertha.

It was the place where the title of “Sri Raghavendra Theertha” was given to him

He was handed over the responsibilities of the Vidya Matha
The ceremonies took place at the behest of Nayak king of Thanjavur in Vadavur, TN

This is also the place where, Sri Raghavendra Swamy did penance for twelve long years.

He continued the propagation of Dwaita Philosophy through-out the nation

It was Sri Raghavendra Teertha who helped the king during famine

A Brindavan named Sarpa Peeta Brindavana has been established here.

Sri Mahipathi Dasa (1611-1681)

In Kakhandki's soil, a child was born,
 Mahipati Rao, beneath dawn's morn.
 Son of Koneri, devout and wise,
 A destiny foretold by the stars in the skies.

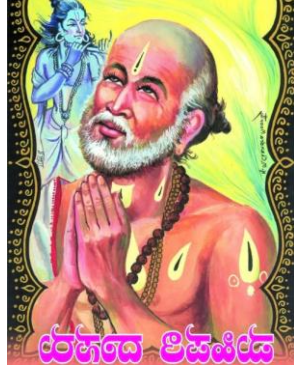

Languages flowed from his gifted tongue,
 Kannada, Sanskrit, Persian he sung.
 Discourses of dharma drew crowds near,
 Bhagavata's wisdom, Ramayana clear.

Courts of Bijapur saw his rise,
 Adil Shah's ministers held him in prize.
 From scholar to Diwan, his path was bright,
 Yet his heart sought Hari's eternal light.

He sang of Krishna, with humble grace,
 His verses adorned the bhakti space.
 Ugabhogas and padas, devotion's streams,
 Awakening souls with spiritual dreams.

Muslims and Hindus alike would hear,
 His words of love, both gentle and clear.
 Breaking barriers of creed and land,
 He spread Hari's truth with guiding hand.

Simple in life, austere in deed,
 He sowed devotion's timeless seed.
 From birth to saintly end, his story flows
 Mahipati Dasa — a lotus that grows.

Sri Sudheendra Tirtha (1614-1621)

In Kumbakonam sacred land he rose,
A disciple of Vijayendra, wisdom flows.
Sudheendra Tirtha, scholar bright,
Shone in debates, a guiding light.

Kings of Vijayanagar sought his grace,
Raghunatha Nayaka honoured his place.
He taught poem and art,
Poetry and drama flowed from his heart.

A guru to Venkata Natha, pure and keen,
Who became Raghavendra, saint serene.
Through him the torch of Madhva burned,
In every soul, devotion returned.

Miracles marked his saintly span,
Faith in Lord Hari guiding man.
He hid the sun at a sceptic's plea,
Proving the Lord's divinity.

At life's end, serene and grand,
He entered Brindavana in Hampi's sand.
NavaBrindavana holds his rest,
Where saints of Madhva are eternally blessed.

Sri Appanacharya (1623 - 1671)

Lord Raghavendra Swamy was great Madhwa saint from 1623 to 1671

Appanacharya was one of the four outstanding disciples of Lord Raghavendra

He was devoted to the Lord Raghavendra and attracted his attention

He was born in 1593 in village of Bichale on banks of Tungabhadra

Sri Appanacharya had a sharp mind and was intuitive by nature

He received early training on Dwaita philosophy from his father Rama Subbannacharya

He believed that wealth should be dedicated to service of humanity

And that service to humanity is service to God

Appana set up a Gurukulam at his home as per tradition

He was good in teaching and his fame spread far and wide

He spent his time in teaching and teaching was form of sacred worship

He taught his disciples to earn their livelihood with Bhiksha – Sacred form of begging

Appana performed many miracles and was popular among his students

He used to sprinkle water which he worshipped to rice tied on the branch

And the rice got cooked without the use of fire and was ready to be served

He used to serve this rice to all his students. Faith, they say, can move mountains

Once Lord Raghavendra Swamy visited Bichale
 Years of faith, worship and devotion had now its rewards for Appana
 Lord Raghavendra provided darshan to his disciple
 Like Lord Rama visited Shabari, the old woman with faith alone as her hope

Appana prepared food for his teacher and made dish for Lord which he liked much
 The grinding stone used for preparing food can be seen even today in Bichale
 Appana served the Lord daily and he was truly a blessed disciple
 He earned great merit to obtain the blessings of rendering service to great saint

In 1670, Lord Raghavendra Swamy decided to enter the Brindavan.
 All arrangements were made for the Swamy to enter the Brindavan alive in Aug.
 Swamy had installed Sri Yogendra Teertha as his successor
 He delivered heart melting speech and entered the Brindavan
 Devotees placed sacred stone above his head and over it upper slab was placed Appana heard about the Lord entering Brindavan.

 He was heartbroken but could not witness the eventful last minutes

The river Tungabhadra was flooded and the period was monsoon

He stood at the edge of the river and composed verses extempore in praise of the Lord

The river paved the way for the disciple to walk over

He continued to compose verses in praise of Lord

When he reached the site, the upper slab of Brindavan had been just closed

There were still few words left to complete the extempore composition

He was dejected and stood in tears before the Brindavan

Thousands of devotees watched the incident and there was complete silence

A loud and clear voice emanated from the Brindavan

Lord Raghavendra showed the first miracle

From the Brindavan, came out seven syllables to fill the gap in composition

It said” Narayana himself bears witness”

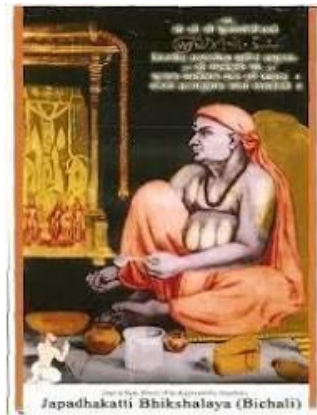

It is believed that Lord Vayu himself certified the truth of the verses

Appana was overwhelmed and speechless by the response

Even today Appanacharya Lord Raghavendra Swamy verses is recited by all devotees

It is wholesome description of every aspect of Lord
Raghavendra Swamy

Beyond doubt these are recognized as verses of great merit
Lord Raghavendra Swamy first miracle is visible in the last 7 syllables “SAKSHI HAYASYOTRAHI”

Sri Yogendra Tirtha (1671-1688)

Adoni is near Mantralaya – place of Lord Raghavendra
Swamy's Brindavana

Venkanna was a young brahmin from Adoni
His parents died when he was young and his maternal uncle took care of him
They did not educate him to usurp all his wealth

One day he was grazing cattle in the village
He saw Lord Raghavendra Swamy walking with his followers
He recognized benevolence in the saint's eyes
He ran to him and prostrated at his feet

He wept after seeing the saint remembering his childhood
The saint offered his blessings and asked him to remember him at times of difficulty
Venkanna felt strange sense of peace in him
He carefully stored the holy offerings from the saint

Days rolled by and one day Nawab Masood Khan came to village
At the same time, messenger brought him a note
Not knowing local language, Nawab asked Venkanna to read the message
Venkanna was shocked since he was illiterate

He told the Nawab that he could not read or write
He could not believe a young brahmin could be illiterate
He ordered him to read else he will be beheaded for disobedience

Venkanna unaware of what to do remembered Lord
Raghavendra Swamy

With tears in his eyes, he prayed to the Lord Raghavendra
He took the scroll in his hand
Magic happened and he could read what was written there
He told nawab that message was one of Victory for him

Coincidentally the message was of Nawab's elevation in his rank
He was overjoyed and made Venkanna as the Head
(Deewan of Adoni)
Venkanna was overjoyed by seeing this Illiterate cowherd became Diwan of Adone, by grace of Lord Raghavendra

Yogendra Tirtha is one of the earliest direct disciples of Sri Raghavendra Swamy
His life is characterized by a deep dedication to the study of shastras
He was designated as the chosen successor of Sri Raghavendra Swamy
He assumed a significant role in the upkeep and worship of Mantralaya Brindavana
After the guru's entry into the divine realm he went on a pilgrimage
And he showcased the greatness of prowess of Sri Raghavendra Swamy
The final destination of Yogendra Tirtha's travels was Srirangam
He received a warm welcome from King Muddalagadri Nayak of Madurai.

Recognizing his greatness, the king presented him with the Kalla mutt in 1679

Residing in the sacred environs of Srirangam, he continued his spiritual endeavours

He attained his eternal abode on the tenth day of the waxing moon in the Magh month

His legacy endures through his contributions to spirituality and the dissemination of the profound teachings he inherited from Guru Raghavendra Tirtha.

(Based on true story from Raghavendra Vijayam – book on Lord Raghavendra Swamy)

Sri Vadeendra Tirtha (1678-1750)

In the lineage of Madhva's flame,
A child was born to uphold the name.
Vadeendra Tirtha, scholar bright,
Shone with wisdom, a guiding light.

Fifth Disciple of Sri Raghavendra's line,
And he was his great grand son
He was considered avatar of Brihaspati
He carried forth teachings divine.
With pen and prayer, his works arose,
Defending truth against worldly foes.

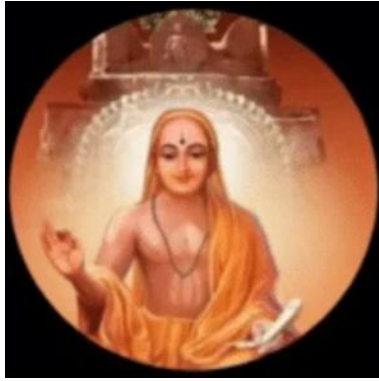

His Vadeendra Tirtha Vijaya sings,
Of miracles wrought by saintly kings.
He wrote of Vedanta, clear and strong,
To guide the seekers who journeyed long.
He wrote GURUGUNASTAVANA , book of excellence

Through life he walked with humble grace,
Hari's devotion his resting place.
No wealth, no pride, no worldly chain,
Only bhakti's song did remain.

When Shri Raghavendra had decided to enter Brindavana
A devotee named Venkannapant had constructed a
Brindavana
But Rayaru mentioned that it was not for him.
He stated that the Brindavana was meant for the 5th saint after him in the lineage

It was none other than Shri Vadeendra Teertha Out of deep affection, Raghavendra Swamy ensured the unique accomplishment
That Vadeendra Teertha's Brindavana would be placed right next to his own.

His Aradhana is observed on Jyeshtha Shuddha Navami

Sri Prasanna Venkata Dasa (1680 - 1752)

Venkanna was an orphan in his childhood
 He was nurtured by his brother and his wife
 He was not fed well
 He was made to work hard
 He was given bad treatment

He left home and was resting in temple
 He joined a group who was going to Tirupati
 With reluctance they accepted him in the group
 On reaching Tirupati, Venkanna was tired and weak
 The group left him and started climbing the hill
 This was the turning point in his life

He started singing songs on Lord Venkateshwara
 The god came to him in his dream
 And wrote Prasanna Venkata on his tongue
 When he saw this miracle, he started singing songs on God
 He climbed the hill, saw Lord Venkateshwara
 He stayed there and wrote many songs on Lord.
 He became famous and acquired followers too.

In meantime, his brother's house went into deep poverty
 Venkanna came back to his hometown
 His brother's wife apologized for ill-treating him earlier
 He replied that it is because of her that he reached God.
 This is the story of Prasanna Venkata Dasa (Venkanna) @
 Bagalkot

That was the era of rule of Bhaji Rao² of Peshwa dynasty
 The king came to Bagalkot and wanted to see this famous Dasa
 His assistant came to him and asked him to meet the king.

Dasa replied he has only king and he is God whom he is praying now

The assistant went back to king and was stunned by his arrogance

King sent another of his assistant to bring Venkata Dasa to kingdom.

Dasa enquired about a Golden pen he was holding in his ear

He replied that was a gift given by king commending his dictation skills

To this, Dasa asked him whether he can write a song which was in his mind

The assistant replied that it was his job, and he could do it with ease

The song goes like this “ENTHA SRIMANTHA ANTHANO” and was tongue twister song

The assistant could not complete the dictation and lost

This is a story of Great Prasanna Venkata Dasa of Bagalkot.

Sri Vyasa Vittala Dasa (1720- 1815)

In the land of devotion, a child was born,
A soul of bhakti, to light the dawn.
Vyasa Vittala, blessed by grace,
A saintly flame in time's embrace.

From youth he sought the Lord's sweet song,
To Krishna's feet he did belong.
Renouncing the world, its fleeting pride,
He chose the path where saints abide.

His voice became a river wide,
Flowing with padas, truth as guide.
Ugabhogas and Keerthana's bright,
Awakened hearts to Hari's light.

He sang of dharma, of love divine,
Of souls that seek the Lord's design.
His works still echo, timeless and pure,
A legacy strong, forever secure.

At life's end, serene and grand,
He entered Brindavana by God's command.
In Santhebennur, his rest remains,
Where devotees gather, singing refrains.

His child name was Kallur Subbannacharya
He had mastered the Nyasa Sudha of Teekacharya
He had arranged for dinner to this students
But the cook did not arrive on that day
Instead Sri Vijaya Dasa came in the guise of cook

Later he asked him to explain few verses of Nyayasudha
Sri Vijaya Dasa asked a boy to repeat what he had said
Subbana was humbled and apologised to Sri Vijaya Dasa
Later he was given name Vyasa Vittala Dasa
He later wrote Vijaya Kavacha
It is a praiseworthy poem on his teacher Sri Vijaya Dasa
It is very popular poem “ Smarisi Badukiro”

Sri Varadendra Tirtha (1721- 1785)

Shri Varadendra Tirtharu was the 24th pontiff in the lineage of Shri Raghavendra Matha.

His poorva ashrama name was Shri Balaramacharya, He accepted ashrama from Shri Vasudendra Tirtharu, His ashrama disciple was Shri Bhuvanendra Tirtharu.

He was a great scholar and wrote Deva Pooja Paddati and Tantra Sara

His famous disciple was Jagannatha Dasa

He studied with Swamiji and has composed Varadendra Pancha Ratna Malika.

He was an eminent Dwaita Scholar of his times

He was a contemporary of Sri Vijayadasa, Sri Gopaladasa and Sri Jagannathadasaru

Sri Pranesha Vittala Dasa was his disciple

On one occasion he invited the Pontiff to his home at Lingasoor.

The pontiff after performing Sri Moola Rama Pooja asked him as to what he would offer to the Lord.

In reply, with total surrender he said everything belongs to the Lord Moola Rama.

However, the pontiff proposed to take the area occupied by the Jowar Stacks

The pontiff thereafter proceeded to Pune and engaged in a debate with Sri Rama Shastry, an Advaita Scholar.

The conditions of the debate was that- if the pontiff loses he had to surrender all his titles and if Sri Rama Shastry loses he had to give away his house and go to Kashi.

Sri Rama Shastry lost the debate and accordingly proceeded to Kashi.

Sri Varadendra Tirtha spent his last days in Pune and his Brindavana was made in the same house of Sri Rama Shastry.

At the same time Sri Varadendra Tirtha appeared in the dream of his disciple Sri Pranasha Vittala Dasa. He informed him that he would appear in the form of a Tulsi Plant under the Jowar Stack and instructed him to concreate a Brindavana after him.

To his surprise he found the Tulsi plant there and made a Brindavana for the saint.

It is popularly known as 'Swapna Brindavana'

He handed over the Peeta to Sri Dheerendra Theertha Tirtha in 1785.

Sri Jagannatha Dasa (1728 - 1809)

Srinivasa Acharya was a great Sanskrit scholar
 He had ego about his knowledge
 He disliked the saints of his time
 He had thought Dasara pada was nothing

Vijayadasaru, the great Madhwa Saint invited Srinivasa Acharya
 To come to eat food with him in the temple; he never came Vijayadasaru sent one of his disciples to bring him
 He refused, saying he is suffering from stomach problem

From that day, Srinivasa developed intense stomach problems
 It worsened day by the day, finally reaching unbearable pain
 Srinivasa went to several temples and performed intense service
 He even thought of committing suicide

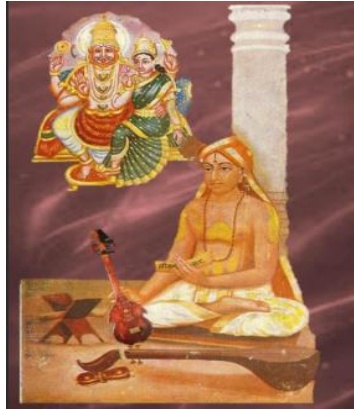

One night, Sri Raghavendra Swamy appeared in his dream
 And asked him to go to Sri Vijayadasaru
 He immediately approached him
 Who in turn, asked him to go to Gopala Dasaru

Sri Gopala Dasaru took him as his disciple
 He donated 40 years of his life to Srinivasa
 As per orders of Vijaya Dasaru
 A miracle had just happened

Srinivasa decided to become a saint
 Sri Gopala Dasaru gave him the coaching

He directed him to visit Pandarapura
Srinivasa Acharya found a stone bearing the words “Jagannatha Vittala”; it became his pen name

From that day, he started composing songs
He became renowned as Jagannatha Dasaru.
He composed Magnum opus – Hari Katha Amruta Sara
It has 32 chapters and has all the tenets of Sri Madwacharya philosophy.
It is written in the Bhamini Satpadi meter
It is an epitome of Madhva theology

Sri Mohana Dasa (1728-1751)

Mohan Dasa was a famous devotee of God
 He was blessed even when he was young.
 His father Bhimappa Nayak was a jeweller in Anegondi
 He had earned a good deal of money.
 But he died without distributing his property

His wife with her son, young Mohan, became destitute
 Both found it hard to lead a simple life
 The wife suffered the pain of social and financial insults.

Not able to undergo deprivation the wife decided to commit suicide in Hampi
 It so happened that Vijaya Dasa had gone to the island at the same time.
 Seeing the women trying to jump into the river Sri Vijaya
 Dasa stopped her and son
 He blessed the boy with long life and raised him who became known as Mohana Dasa.

He was destined to write a number of songs in praise of Lord Hari.
 But, unfortunately he met with premature death.
 When he suddenly died, Vijaya Dasa made him alive by the grace of Lord of Death

Later Mohan Dasa became a seer, philosopher and a great devotee of Lord Hari.
 He lived for 85 years and composed several songs and ugabhogas.
 Mohana Dasa katte is next to Vijaya Dasaru himself in Chippa Giri, Karnataka

Mohana Dasa wrote his songs to preach to common man
With his teaching methods he won people's hearts
His pen name is "Mohana Vittala".
